Topic 1 Reflection

This week I attended evaluator training to become a certified teacher evaluator in South Carolina. I also attended our district's school board meeting via YouTube regarding upcoming school reopening plans. Evaluator training connects with ELCC sub-standard 3.5: Ensure teacher and organizational time focuses on supporting high quality school instruction and student learning. The school board meeting aligns with ELCC sub-standard 6.2: Act to influence local, district, state, and national decisions affecting student learning in a school environment.

What I found most interesting was comparing in-class evaluation rubrics to newly created virtual ones. The current state of our national community has forced us to reflect on our current practices and always prepare for the "what-if" scenarios. Watching our leadership adapt to these circumstances shows me as a future administrator, it is okay to not always know the answers, but it takes a collaborative effort and seeking support from sources when needed.

Next week I will be assisting my site assistant principal in finalizing the draft of the discipline plan for the upcoming year. A committee has already previously met and drafted most of the plan, but I will work alongside her to revise and prepare the draft to submit to the principal.
